SULLIVAN TO COACH '16 FOOTBALL SQUAD

Has Coached Many Championship Elevens in North and West

ALL-AMERICAN HALFBACK IN '12

Expects to Make Good Showing With Team Next Year; He and Manager Baer Have Been Formulating Plans

It has been announced by the athletic management that Thomas Sullivan, of Colgate, is to be the football coach for the coming year when G. W. U. again will be represented on the gridiron. Mr. Sullivan is a man of great ability and experience, having coached teams of several of the leading institutions of the North since his active participation in football four years ago when he was All-American halfback at Colgate.

He was a member of the famous Colgate team of which Huntington was captain, when he defeated Yale and was mentioned for the championship. Last season he coached Compton College, of California, introducing the game of football as played in the East for the first time and winning the championship of that part of the State. He was also two years assistant coach under Bankhard, of Colgate.

Sullivan realizes the difficulties to be confronted here in bringing the gridiron sport back, but he feels confident of success with the abundant material on hand and the excellent spirit being shown. As a man of action and personal magnetism he should be able to arouse great enthusiasm among the members of the squad and instill fight and determination into the team, which have been characteristic of his teams of the past.

Mr. Sullivan was in Washington a few days ago going over the field with Graduate Manager Baer and making active preparation for next year. When interviewed he appeared entirely optimistic concerning the future, and one could not help but be impressed by his spirit and determination which according to all reports should bring success to George Washington and give it one of the most successful teams of its history.

NOTICE!

The University will participate in the preparedness parade on June 14. The faculty and students will assemble at the Medical School Building. The time to be announced in the papers of the preceding day. Caps and gowns will be distributed to the Seniors and American flags to all. The procession will be organized by Departments each unit led by the faculty and seniors of that Department. A G. W. U. pennant with the name of the Department will be provided for each unit. It is hoped that the Coast Artillery Company will lead the procession.

MRS. LA FOLLETTE GUEST OF GIRL LAW STUDENTS.

The girls of the Law School had as their guest of honor and principal speaker at a dinner given by them at the Powhatan, May 20, Mrs. La Follette. She told of the benefits derived from her legal training, and emphasized the opportunities open to women today in professional and business activities. Mrs. Cheatham was toastmistress.

PROF. MAILLET PRESENTED WITH GIFT

At the closing session of Prof. Jules Maillet's French conversation and composition class, his students presented him with a prettily decorated box of very fine linen handkerchiefs with his initials handsomely embossed thereon in blue silk.

The class "poetess" read a farewell address in French verse, expressing the sincere regret of her fellow students and herself at parting from their patient, kind, and devoted instructor and feelingly made mention of the good relations which existed at all times between the members of the class and their instructor.

Deeply touched by this voluntary and unexpected manifestation of esteem by his class, Prof. Maillet took advantage of the opportunity to cordially thank them for their gifts and, in a few words appropriate to the occasion, he reviewed the work done during the scholastic year, highly complimenting the class on the results that had been accomplished.

Senator Morris Sheppard

To the Editor of The Hatchet:

I am glad to know that George Washington University has organized a Company of Coast Artillery. In taking this initial step on the part of our universities in the matter of national defense, George Washington University has achieved an enviable and patriotic distinction. I trust that the interest will be such that the Company will be recruited at an early date to its maximum strength.

Congratulating you and the University on this movement, I am,

Yours very sincerely,

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS JUNE 26

As the regular college year is drawing to a close, the prospects of having a well-attended Summer School are unusually bright. Many inquiries from out of the city are being received, and our regular students are planning to avail themselves of the opportunities offered in large numbers. Just what the attendance will be would be difficult to say at this time, but it promises to be at least two or three times as large as was first anticipated. Work is offered not only in the Department of Arts and Sciences, but also in the Law and Medical Schools.

SOUTHERN MILITARY CAMP TO OPEN.

The Southern Military Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., for college students will open July 5 and continue until August 8. Address Lieut. G. A. Wildrick, Coast Artillery Corps, Adjutant, for further information.

PREPAREDNESS AND PARADE.

George Washington University should have a representative body in the preparedness parade. A University which has been giving demonstrations of its stand regarding preparedness by organizing a Company of Coast Artillery and Torpedo Patrol should not hesitate to give a similar demonstration June 14.

The Artillery Company, the pride of G. W. U., will be in the line of march and probably behind the President of the United States, as his escort, if our plans work out satisfactorily.

This parade is not for the benefit of giving enjoyment to some thousands of Washingtonians, but to show how many persons in this city are willing to stand behind the stars and stripes when danger approaches. There will be some in the parade, however, who will be too old or too young to join the fighting ranks when the command is given, but nevertheless there is work that they can do. University men and women are of the age that they can come to the front when duty calls to do work in the field and hospitals respectively.

If there is a student among us who would not respond to the nation's call for help we do not ask him to participate for that is not the spirit of this patriotic demonstration. If you are in favor of preparedness, do not fail to report at the designated place and at the specified time. G. W. U. has shown itself more in favor of preparedness than any other local institution. Are we going to let them have a larger representation than we? Are we going to say that the members of the Coast Artillery Company are the only patriots we have among us? Not if The Hatchet or the Faculty Committee can help it.

President Stockton will march ahead of a G. W. U. body in this parade if "IT IS LARGE ENOUGH." We want President Stockton to march with us. You cannot blame him for saying "If it is large enough." It all depends, too, upon the number who participate whether the University should go to the expense of hiring a band.

Graduates, we want you in the procession ahead of us. Postpone your departure until after June 14.

SUMMARY OF G. W. TRACK SEASON

Members of Squad to Train Through Summer Months; Bureau of Standards to be Headquarters.

Now that the track season for this year has closed, the work of the squad should be summarized. The men have been in training three months, February indoors at the Y. M. C. A., and March and April outdoors on the bridle paths near the Monument. They have represented the University in four meets, the Georgetown and George Washington indoor meets, and the "Penn" Relays, and M. A. C. meet outdoors. Mr. Halsey, a member of the faculty, has coached the men while outdoors and not only much of his available time, but also the fruits of his experience gained while running for Swarthmore. The best records made by the men this year are:

50 yards, 6:1-5, R. Harsh, H. Scott, G. W. U.
100 yards, 11:1-5, R. Harsh, M. A. C.
220 yards, 24:4-5, W. James, M. A. C.
440 yards, 54, R. Harsh, M. A. C.
880 yards, 2:09, D. Alexander, M. A. C.
1 mile, 4:57, D. Alexander, M. A. C.
High Jump, 5' 5", R. Wingate, M. A. C.
Pole Vault, 11' 6", H. Semmes, G. W. U.
Broad Jump, 17' 4", R. Harsh, M. A. C.
Shot Put, 28' 10", W. James, M. A. C.
Relay, 1,200 yards, 2:32, Scott, James, Harsh, Alexander, G. W. U.
Relay, 1 mile, 3:51:1-5, Harsh, Wingate, Alexander, James, "Penn" Games.

The squad that was out this year certainly had but little encouragement, many difficulties, and some ridicule.

Some of the men who intend to go out for track next year are going to do some light form work and perhaps some cross-country running this summer, once, or possibly twice a week. They will make the Bureau of Standards the "training quarters," as showers and a convenient place to run are at hand. Any one who is interested in this work and wants to improve his form and wind should communicate with any of the following men: W. S. James, R. Harsh, Engineering; H. Scott, D. R. Alexander, Columbian College.

"RULES OF THE GAME" SCORES HIT WITH STUDENTS

Clever Comedy by Lloyd H. Van Kirk Pleases Large Audience; Walter Ostrow, Director, Deserves Credit

The Senior players last night pleased a large audience at the Wilson Normal School in the production of "The Rules of the Game" written by Lloyd H. Van Kirk one of their number.

The three act comedy was directed by Walter Ostrow and a good share of the credit should go to him for his splendid work. The acting in this comedy was of a class rarely seen in similar college productions. The play opens with the scene set at Ashbury where a convention for the "Revision of the Laws of Love and Lovers" is being held. Ramases, H. P. Ramsey, and Fuzzle, G. W. Hodgkins, are delegates from George "Squashington" University. Ramases meets Iris, Margaret M. Browne, a seminary girl from New Jersey and also her two suitors, Villa, F. J. Kelley, and Robert Jay, Charles Kothe. The following year when the new rules go into effect Iris qualifies as an eligible with Ramases but Villa, always on the job, prevents the marriage and secures hold on Iris himself. Ramases meanwhile learns that Iris favors Villa and he thereby declares attachment with Marguerite Fuzzle, Mildred Hughes. Villa again proves dangerous by forging a notice of severance of attachment with Ramases, signing Marguerite's name. Ramases tries to hold Iris under the new laws but fails because her legal residence is in New Jersey. Realizing that both girls are lost to him, he is dejected until he learns from Marguerite that the notice was forged. Iris and Villa are then arrested for violation of the law whereby she loses all three suitors. She later finds protection in the revised "rules of the game." Ramases and Marguerite file engagement papers.

Other members of the cast were: Mrs. Van Dyke, Margaret Haines, Prudentia Smith, Margaret Knowles, Officer O'Camera, J. P. Caemmerer, Officer Tolstoy, B. J. Tepper and Willie Ostrich, Walter Ostrow, Boardwalk Betty, P. G. Russell, Banana Better, P. G. Russell.

STUDENTS WHO FAILED TO MEET THEIR OBLIGATIONS

It was thought that the publicity given the fact that the financial obligations of the students must be met before final action by the president would be taken would bring about immediate settlement of those obligations. It seems, however, that another publicity step is necessary to make them realize their situation. The following lists were carefully made out by the business managers of the various activities.

Those who have failed to pay for their athletic tickets: G. H. Hicks, W. S. Simmons, E. T. Taylor, E. C. Babcock, F. J. Hartman, C. A. Bennett, and R. W. Patterson.

Delinquent subscribers to the "Cherry Tree" are: R. J. Beck, H. Hayes, J. R. Finley, W. M. York, L. B. Foster, E. M. Campbell, M. A. Ostrow, Eliz. Richardson, M. R. Wade, A. W. Davis, E. D. Willey, B. C. Johnson, Bert Van Moss, H. F. Almon, Bindia Colonna, C. J. Barone, W. C. Groome, Harold Keats, and R. C. Kilmartin, jr.

Delinquent subscribers to the University Hatchet are: Jack Albes, Samuel Bernstein, Paul Brattain, M. Cortes, jr., J. H. Chapman, Vernon B. Dodge, Ralph R. De Prez, D. G. Dickerson, Farley P. Evans, John L. Elliott, J. Burton Glenn, R. J. Gordon, Paul F. Hodge, G. T. Hall, Luis Herrera, Evan Taylor, jr., Fred N. Julian, O. A. Johannesen, F. H. Melvin, P. B. Morehouse, M. M. ## PROF. DOUGHERTY RESIGNS

Ass't Prof. Nathan W. Dougherty, Department of Arts and Sciences, and member of the Faculty Committee on Student Activities has resigned from the faculty to accept a position on the teaching staff of the University of Tennessee. He will leave Washington with his family July 1 to spend the vacation in Tennessee prior to his taking up his duties in that institution.

Students who have had classes under him were greatly surprised to hear of his resignation and all wish him the best of luck.

DR. MUIR DELIVERS BACCALAUREATE SERMON

A baccalaureate sermon was delivered to the graduating classes of George Washington University at the Temple Baptist Church, Tenth and N streets, northwest, by the Rev. Joseph Johnstone Muir, D. D. June 4.

Dr. Muir dwelt on the mind-broadening and vision-enlarging effects of a search after the truth.

Preceding the service an academic procession formed at the Medical School Building on H street northwest and marched to the church. President Stockton led the procession, and following came the members of the Board of Trustees, and faculty.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY SMOKER

Prof. Mark A. Woodward, talked at the final smoker of the Engineering Society held at the Sigma Nu House Tuesday evening. In a snappy speech he discounted the idea that George Washington instruction, especially in the College of Engineering, was inferior to work of any other college. "Work hard for everyone, do not neglect opportunities lying at your feet, and you will be successful," he advised. Arnold A. Brand, graduating president, presided. With refreshments, smoke, music, and plenty of discussion, the evening was well spent.

PORTLAND CEMENT PLANT MODEL

In connection with its educational exhibition work, the division of mineral technology of the National Museum has just completed a model of a Portland cement plant and placed it on exhibition in the southwest corner of the building. Engineers will find the model interesting.

defenses, and have taken such an important step toward fulfilling their obligations in regard thereto. When General Harvey spoke to me sometime ago of the prospective organization of such a company I received the idea enthusiastically, and pointed out to him that when I was Chief of the Division of Military Affairs of the War Department, I had suggested such action to General Harries. This was, I believe, responsible to some extent for the inclusion of the coast artillery battalion in the militia law of the District of Columbia. I also informed General Harries that if coast artillery organizations were created in the District they could be assigned to the batteries at Fort Washington, where it would be possible for the officers and the men to receive instruction and drill in connection with the actual service of coast artillery equipment. From time to time, whenever the matter has been presented to me, it has given me much satisfaction to support action along the lines indicated.

I am very glad to receive information that your organization takes advantage of the facilities offered at Fort Washington by members thereof visiting the Fort from time to time undertaking practical work with the guns and accessory equipment.

Assuring you of my deep interest in your work, and my desire to encourage it in every way possible, I am,

Very truly yours,

E. M. WEAVER,
Brigadier General, Chief of Coast Artillery.

U. S. VOLUNTEER TORPEDO PATROL ORGANIZED

Dr. Nevil Monroe Hopkins, Chairman; Faculty to Assist in Instruction; Bulletin Giving Plan Published

The patriotism of the students of this Institution was again shown when a score of them, together with a number of yacht owners, met in the Medical Building, May 27, and organized the Potomac Division of the United States Volunteer Torpedo Patrol.

Dr. Nevil Monroe Hopkins, temporary chairman, announced that at a meeting in the Medical Building at 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, June 12, officers will be elected and a program for the summer mapped out.

Those associated with Dr. Hopkins in the work of organizing the corps are Prof. Charles E. Munroe, Robert B. Roosevelt, Frederic L. Huidekoper, and Henry H. Ward.

Letters commending the idea have been received from Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Gen. Leonard Wood. Gen. Wood expresses the belief that such an organization "would undoubtedly be needed in time of war to supplement our navy."

To quote from the bulletin gotten out by the organization committee:

"The George Washington University, through its President, Rear Admiral Charles H. Stockton, U. S. N., retired, consented to loan its lecture rooms for this educational work when they may not be needed for regular classes of instruction, and a number of the instructors and professors have already volunteered to give their services in their respective lines of work."

TRUSTEES AMEND RULING FOR STUDENT FUNDS.

The Board of Trustees at its meeting May 22 amended the resolutions adopted by it on February 18, 1916, regarding student activities, which read as follows:

"(d) That all funds collected from any source for the University Hatchet, 'Cherry Tree,' Athletics, or Medical and Hospital Benefits shall be deposited with the Treasurer of the University to be paid out only upon warrant properly drawn by such University official as shall be designated by the President to supervise and administer the funds set aside for financing student activities."

by the substitution for it of the following:

"(d) That all student activity fees after having been voluntarily subscribed by the student shall become obligatory and shall be collectable by the Treasurer of the University in the same manner and under the same conditions as other student fees. The return from such fees shall be pro rated to the various student activities in accordance with the ruling of the Committee on Student Activities and shall be transferred by the Treasurer to those student activities on warrant drawn by the graduate manager of athletics, the chairman of the subcommittee on student publications, or the University Physician, respectively."
